

COMMITTEE ACTIVITIES 2013-2014

The annual Diversity University event was held on the campus of Bismarck State University in September and October 2013. On September 12, United States Attorney Tim Purdon spoke about public safety in the reservation communities in North Dakota. On September 19, Josh Boschee, House of Representatives member from District 44, spoke about discrimination against the Lesbian Gay Bisexual Transgender (LGBT) community and how the fight for equality has and will impact North Dakota. On September 26, a panel discussion about diversity in the workplace featured Rose Stoller from the Consensus Council, Inc., Michelle Miller from KLJ, Adele Page from Legal Services of ND, Karen Siegfried from Job Service, ND, and Mark Del Vecchio from MDU. The series wrapped up on October 3 with a Celebration of Cultures event. These events were all held free of charge and open to the public. See attached flyer for more information.

The winner of the 2014 Human Rights Essay and Poetry Contest was announced on April 10th with a visit by Bismarck Mayor John Warford to the winner's classroom at Sunrise Elementary. Paighton Volk, a fifth grader, was presented with a certificate from Mayor Warford while her family, classmates, and members of the Human Rights Committee looked on. Mayor Warford wrapped up the visit by answering several questions from the students, and posed for photos with the Volk family. The flyer announcing the contest, the winning poem, and a photograph are attached.

Mayor John Warford and members of the Human Relations Committee present Humanitarian Award to Nan Johnson

On July 11, 2013 the annual Humanitarian Award was presented to Nan Johnson, site manager at Crescent Manor. The facility is an affordable senior high rise in Bismarck, and Johnson was nominated by Dot Frank for her dedication of time, friendship, support, and advocacy for the residents. The Humanitarian Award recognizes individuals, businesses, and organizations that have exhibited leadership in the areas of human and civil rights with a focus upon recognizing those that educate, identify issues, and address human rights. The news release is attached.

The Challenges of Public Safety on Reservations in North Dakota and the Role of the U.S. Attorney's Office

Thursday, September 12 • BSC Student Union • Prairie Room • 7 p.m.

A discussion of public safety in the Native American reservation communities in North Dakota. U.S. Attorney Tim Purdon will discuss the scope of the challenge based on his experiences and the path forward under the U.S. Attorney's Office Anti-Violence Strategy for Tribal Communities.

Progress for LGBT Americans. What does this mean for North Dakotans?

Thursday, September 19 • BSC Student Union • Prairie Room • 7 p.m.

Great progress continues to be made towards LGBT equality in the United States as local governments, state legislatures and the U.S. Supreme Court recognize that discrimination towards LGBT Americans is wrong and harmful to our communities. As progress is made elsewhere, what does that mean for LGBT North Dakotans? Join us for a thought provoking discussion from District 44 House of Representatives member Josh Boschee.

Cultural Diversity in the Workplace

Thursday, September 26 • BSC Student Union • Prairie Room • 7 p.m.

As North Dakota becomes increasingly diverse, what are the key policies needed to assure that we have open and welcoming workplaces? This discussion will focus on building healthy, culturally competent employment opportunities for all. This panel discussion will be facilitated by Rose Stoller of The Consensus Council, Inc. and will feature Michelle Miller a recruiter from KLJ; Adele Page a staff attorney from Legal Services of ND; Karen Siegfried a customer service consultant from Job Service ND; and Mark Del Vecchio Vice-President of Human Resources from MDU.

Human Rights

A Poem by Paighton Volk
Sunrise Elementary School, Grade 5

Whether you are black, tan, purple, or white, we all have our equal rights.

Here are some I will say right here. Now listen up, because I want to make this clear.

It doesn't matter what color you are, because you know you are always a star.

No one should have to be treated so cruel. Now you know it's a #1 rule.

No more violence, no more attacks, no more bias, and no more hacks.

Different opinions or different thoughts, there are more I know there are lots.

Please don't tease; please don't fight; now you know some of your rights,

Now don't go out and go astray, I hope you accept everyone today.

HUMAN RIGHTS ESSAY & POETRY CONTEST

CALLING BISMARCK STUDENTS!

- Grades 4-6: Write about a person or idea that fosters respect for Human Rights

- Grades 7-9: Write about your concept of leadership for Human Rights

Bismarck Human Relations Committee

Bismarck Human Relations Committee Announces Humanitarian Award Recipient

BISMARCK, N.D. – The Bismarck Human Relations Committee has selected Nan Johnson of Crescent Manor as the recipient of the 2013 Humanitarian Award. She was selected for her outstanding support, friendship, advocacy and humanitarian efforts that serve to preserve the dignity of the residents of Crescent Manor and bring joy to their lives. Nan was presented the Humanitarian Award by Mayor John Warford and members of the Bismarck Human Relations Committee at an award ceremony held today at Crescent Manor.

Nan Johnson serves as the site manager for Crescent Manor, an affordable senior high rise in Bismarck and was nominated by Dot Frank. In her nomination letter Dot describes Nan as one “who could easily clock in each day, collect payments, dish up meals and depart. However, as a true humanitarian she dedicates her time to serve friendship, support and advocacy to all residents within the facility.”

“Nan is a shining example of humanitarianism through her selfless acts of advocacy, kindness and service. She improves the lives and brings joy to those whose age, loss of independence and limited incomes combined can make daily living a challenge,” said Mayor Warford.

The Bismarck Human Relations Humanitarian Award honors an individual, business or organization that has exhibited leadership in the areas of human and civil rights with a focus upon recognizing those that educate, identify issues and address human rights issues.

The mission of the Bismarck Human Relations Committee is to protect and promote the personal dignity of all Bismarck citizens and eliminate any discriminatory barriers that prevent them from reaching their full human potential. For more information please visit www.bismarck.org
